zacbedell@gmail.com // 206.349.4218 // zacbedell.com

Twelve plus years of successful software industry experience. Skills include design of all types—specializing in user experience design—web development, management of software development, agile projects, business, and personnel. Extensive experience designing and delivering enterprise-class software to market at a high cadence. This, combined with adaptive interpersonal communication, strong writing ability, presentation experience, and accountability to executive-level ownership, has resulted in a successful track record of product design, development, and deployment, in a range of company sizes; global corporate, start-up, and mid-size.
